

Corey Haselhuhn

Lake StClair

Corey “Sleddy” Haselhuhn grew up on the shoreline of Lake St Clair, where he was introduced to the sport of angling at a very young age. In his early teens he began tying flies, and learning how to cast. With more than a decade under his belt chasing fish avidly with a fly rod in his hand, he has built a lifestyle around warm-water species. His fly fishing travels have taken him everywhere from Alaska, the Florida keys, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, and northern Wisconsin. Corey enjoys chasing everything that swims with a fly, with carp and musky being two of his favorites.

His care and patience is second to none! The greatest gift in his angling career has been the ability to share his knowledge and experiences with others. Being able to pass along his true “passion” in life is his ultimate goal. He believes fly fishing has no set boundaries and should be fun and available to anyone regardless of where they come from.
